TRADE ACROSS THE ISTHMUS. -- More than one nation is engaged in efforts to control the trade that passes across the narrow neek of land connecting North and South America .-The railroad from Aspinwall to Panama has grown into commanding importance, and we now have the announcement that an interoceanic railroad through the Republic of Nicaragua has been thoroughly surveyed by competent engineers of the British army and navy, and work commenced in earnest. The entire road will be constructed over the Territory of Nicaragua, and the projected route passes within sight of the great Lakes of Nicaragua and Managua, both of which can be used for commercial purposes.

This is entirely an English enterprise. All the capital is supplied by English bankers, merchants and shippers, and they control the | Thornton possesses such wonderful powers of work and manage the company. More than one hundred men are employed upon the route at present, and it is expected that in six months the exact period can be named when the rails will be laid, the rolling stock put upon them, and business commenced. As yet there has been little published with reference to this ment of intense power, known as the Psychomproject. The company prefer secrecy, in order otrope, guarantees to produce a life-like picture to prevent a rush of speculators to this of the future husband or wife of the applicant, section, which will have the effect of raising the price of labor as well as all articles needed to subsist the men employed.—Philada. DEATH OF GENERAL A. P. HILL.-The correspondent of the New York Times, who has been visiting the works around Petersburg, Va., gives the following account of the death | Price $1, sent by Mail or Express, on receipt of of Gen. A. P. Hill, in a letter dated May 26th: "In connection with the defence of Fort Gregg, I must also mention a fact which I learn from General Mahone, in regard to the same. death of the distinguished Confederate corps commander, A. P. Hill. General Lee's headquarters were but a short distance in rear of Gregg, in a house on the Boydton plank-road between the fort and the town. At the time Fort Gregg was carried Generals Hill and of the person you are to marry, and by the aid Mahone were in conversation with Lee at his of an instrument of intense power, known as headquarters. As the firing grew nearer and the Psychomotrope, guarantees to preduce a nearer, Lee, intently listening to the sounds, suddenly turned to Hill and said: "How is this General? Your troops are giving way.' Upon this, Hill mounted his horse, dashed to the front, but while galloping down the road he suddenly came upon two men in blue uniforms. "Throw down your arms!" shouted the General. But the men quickly sprang behind a tree, and, leveling their pieces, fired, and Hill fell from his horse dead.

INVITATION. - The Lynchburg News, in reply to the friendly letter of a subscriber in Philadelphia, which spoke of the situation, resources, &c., of Virginia, says:

"We are suffering in the midst of all the materials necessary to constitute the wealth of a nation, but these resources are undeveloped, and consequently useless. Want of capital, not want of industry or energy, condemns us to stand idly by and see ourselves outstripped events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of rein the race for wealth and power. Bring us lations and friends, loss of money, &c., have bethis capital-identify your interest with oursfurnish employment for our laborers, a market for our miners, a market for our productions, the means of development for our rich mineral deposits, and you will have done more towards "healing the breach" than all the acts of Congress or all the orders of Military Governors. Bring us capital and embark your own personal interest with ours, and no one in Virginia will interfere with your political sentiments, whatever they may be. GREELEY VS. PHILLIPS.-Mr. Greeley is certainly putting Wendell Phillips in rather a tight spot, in view of the latter's vehement gist on earth. Parties living at a born hair, of either sex, into wavy ringlets, or of Mr. Phillips running back for two years past, in which he scouts and scoffs the idea of hanging Davis. In May, 1865, he declared that he "would never consent to the death of Davis till he feared his life." In October he said "they might set all the traitors free if they would only enfranchise the blacks." In Feb. ruary, 1866, he said the time had passed for punishing traitors, and in October he said he did not care what become of Davis-he "was. older than the Ark; the question of his punishment is one that landed on Mount Ararat." These declarations are certainly in very strong and striking contrast with what he is saying now on the same subject. - N. Y. Times.
